"Where is the ideal wife?" asks a prominent lecturer. In the cellar splitting kindling most likely.

Women; it is said, live longer than men. This comes of their keeping their age a secret. Death doesn't know when to call for them.

It is only 100 days before Christmas.
That is accurate. It is time enough to do your Christmas shopping and do a great deal of fall shopping.

Start your children right by seeing that they attend school from the beginning to the end of the term. You owe them a good education and they can get it if you see that they are in school.

Prof. T. J. Coates, State supervisor of rural schools, hit the nail squarely on the head in a recent speech on rural education before the teachers of Jefferson county. "What the farm does to the farmer and not what the farmer does to the farm is the main question in educational agriculture," said Prof.
Coates. "It is not what the farmer's wife does to the kitchen, but what the kitchen does to the farmer's wife." Here is the lesson in a nutshell for those who believe they carry a responsibility for their fellowmen in present and in future. No man knowing the emptiness of many farm people's lives of ought save the most exacting druggery.

ELECTION COMMISSIONERS.

Judge A. D. Ford has been appointed Democratic Election Commissioner and R. H. Batson has been appointed Republican Commissioner of Garrard County.

GOOD RECORD

Mr. G. M. Lyons returned Friday from Cincinnati where he has been buying goods for his store. He made the return trip of a hundred and twenty miles in his five passenger Ford. He there were five people in the car and the trip was made in six hours on six gallons of gasoline.

HORSES FOR ARMY.

Mr. W. G. Burton shipped 27 horses to Cincinnati this week to be inspected for the English army, for which he paid an average of $104. a head. Mr.
Burton will be in Stanford next Tuesday to buy more horses and those having any for sale would be wise to have them there on that day.

CHANGES LOCATION.

In ordering his paper changed from Findley, O., to Westerville, that state, Henry Duncan, formerly a local colored barber here, states that he is pleased with his new location and now owns a nice home, with shop in connection and would be pleased to serve any of his old customers should they happen to pass through that city.

EXCURSION.

The Robinson Famous Chows have arranged round-trip excursion rates on all lines to Richmond where the Robinson Famous Shows exhibit on Sept. 7th.
Don't fail to avail yourself of the opportunity of seeing the only first-class trained animal show in America today.
Remember that $40,000 have been expended by the Robinson Shows in parade features alone.

NEW CLERK

Mr. J. E. Dickerson has recently acquired the service of Mrs. Annie Bailey, of Stanford, as saleslady and she will assume her duties in a few days. Mrs.
Bailey comes highly recommended, having had quite a little experience and is well and prominently connected in this and Lincoln county. She will be glad to welcome her friends and relatives in her new quarters.

SELLS PROPERTY.

Hughes & Swinebroad, the local real estate dealers, sold this week for G. A. Swinebroad, the Shugars property on Danville street, to Mr. Jake Trumbo, for $2800, possession to be given January first. Mr. Isaac Trumbo will occupy the house later, he and his family having recently moved into town and are now living in the Sam
Johnston house on Danville street.

NEW PAVEMENTS.

The Lancaster Christian Church is having a new concrete pavement laid in front of their property on Stanford Street. A new pavement is also being laid in front of the Gully House adjoining the Christian Church. This improvement adds materially to the appearance of the streets and it is hoped that in the near future we will have concrete pavements throughout the town. The work is being done by L.
E. Herron.

SOME APPLES.

We are indebted to Mr. S. S. Long for a half dozen mammoth apples. The six apples weighed six and a quarter pounds which is good weight for six cantaloupes. We can attest that the quality was as good as the quantity.

GOOD FARM

The J. A. Doty farm located near Point Leavell and advertised in this issue of the Record, will be sold next Thursday, the sale beginning promptly at 1:30 o'clock. This is considered one of the most productive farms in the county and lies within a few hundred yards of the L & N station.

DAKOTA JACK AT HOME.

Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Pursley arrived home Saturday after a protracted stay in Virginia and other southern cities.
Dr. Pursley is the sole proprietor of the famous "Dakota Jack" remedies and he reports a thriving business with his wonderful preparations while on his past advertising tour. Dr. Pursley is a firm believer in the printers ink and is not ashamed to let the people know through the columns of the press the wonderful cures that have been effected through his valuable remedies.
Watch for his advertisements and the testimonials as they appear from time to time in the columns of this paper.

QUINCE MAHAN

Moves To Hoosier State.

Mr. J. Q. Mahan, who for the past five years has lived in the county, where he has made many friends, has just purchased a farm near Paris Crossing, Ind., and has moved with his family to his new home. Mr. Mahan is a splendid gentleman and his friends here regret to give him up.

POWELL.

Burdette Powell, Leading Citizen of Hustonville, Dies Following an Attack of Typhoid Fever.

Mr. Burdette Powell, one of the best known citizens of Hustonville, died at his home in that place Saturday, following an attack of typhoid fever. He had been critically ill several days.
Deceased was forty-one years of age and was a son of Mr. Smith Powell.
He was a devoted member of the Christian church. Deceased is survived by his wife and two children.
The burial took place Sunday afternoon in the Hustonville cemetery.

EMBRY

Mrs. Jennie Simpson Embry died at the home of her son, Robert Embry, this (Thursday) morning at five o'clock.
Just with the awakening life of a new day she went to sleep like a tired child.
It was just as the birds carolled the coming of the morning and just as the eastern sky was tinted with a sheen of glory, the pure spirit took its flight heavenward.

She ran the journey of her life in sixty-five years, having been born near Lancaster in 1850, in the house in which she afterwards established a home of her own and lived all of her married life. In 1871 she married Samuel Embry of Richmond, who died two years ago. Mrs. Embry was known to every one as the highest type of Christian womanhood. The beautifying influence of a pure religion spread over her life and character. Her retiring nature led her to hide her best qualities from the public gaze, but they were revealed to those who knew her, yet it was in her home that her true worth was most conspicuous. She had been a kind and loving daughter, a devoted wife, a fond mother, her devotion to the family circle had no limit.

Her life was gentle, but like the still waters, it was deep, a woman of heroic mould in bravely meeting the stern requirements and often the disappointments of life. It is sad to give up one whose influence was always for good, who by precept and example at all times spread abroad the blessed influence of godly living, but because life and love are stronger than death she is still ours. She is still the mother of the devoted boys, whom she loved with such clinging fondness, still the fond grandmother, and may she not by this very transition wield over them a stronger force for goodness and truth than ever before.

For the Sabbath of earth she now enjoys the Sabbath of heaven. She now awaits and watches at the heavenly gate for the coming of her loved ones.
She leaves to mourn her loss two sons, Messrs Robert T. and Will S.
Embry and four grand children, Bert,
William, Samuel and Ruth Embry.

Funeral services will be at the home, tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock, after which she will be tenderly laid to rest in our Silent City beside her husband and other loved ones gone before.

LABOR DAY CELEBRA-

TION CALLED OFF.

The Labor Day celebration which was planned for the beginning of the Paint Lick High School has been called off, owing to the fact that the speakers could not leave their schools, as all of them are to organize on this day.

very nominal figure that it would be fully upon the part of the sender hit to take advantage of it. Packages to the value up to $6. can be insured for 3 cents, up to the value of $25. for five cents, up to the value of $50. for ten cents, up to the value of $100. for 25 cents.

GOOD PLAY AT SCHOOL

AUDITORIUM SEPT. 10th.

The Senior Christian Endeavors are preparing an excellent home talent play to be given at the School Auditorium Sept. 10th. The Society has secured at a price of twenty dollars royalty, the use of the play, "The Elopement of Helen." Notwithstanding the expense of staging such a play, the prices will be very reasonable. Reserved seats, 35 cents; Admission, 25 cents;
All school children 10 cents.

BUCKEYE POSTOFFICE

DISCONTINUED.

Postmaster Brown received official notice from the "powers that be" at Washington, last Monday morning informing him that the post office at Buckeye would be discontinued September 15th. This will prove quite an inconvenience to some of the patrons at Buckeye and will necessitate them putting up rural route boxes so that their mail may be served by B. C.
Ford, who manipulates route No. 3.
Patrons of the CENTRAL RECORD who are now receiving their paper at Buckeye should notify this office where to send paper in the future, otherwise it will go by route No. 3, if you have provided a box to receive it.

MERCHANTS SHOULD HAVE BARGAIN DAYS.

Inaugurate A Bargain Each Month. Results Will Be Surprising.

Just at this season when all the merchants in Lancaster are issuing tickets on every cash save for automobiles and other valuable prizes that will be given away in a few months, it strikes us that a BARGAIN DAY once a month in Lancaster, would be quite an innovation to the public and in the end prove satisfactory to the merchants.
Let the merchants get together and stipulate one day in every month as BARGAIN DAY, the result will be surprising. On each of these days let each merchant have a "leader" a hat, a pair of shoes, a suit of clothes, a plow, a wagon, a cooking stove, a barrel of salt, anything that should come in his line of business and sell this special article at cost for that day only. You will then see your trade greatly increased, for the crowds who come seeking the bargains, will purchase many articles they otherwise would not have done. TRY IT MERCHANTS. IT WILL PAY.

VOTE FOR TOM BALLARD.

For Sheriff

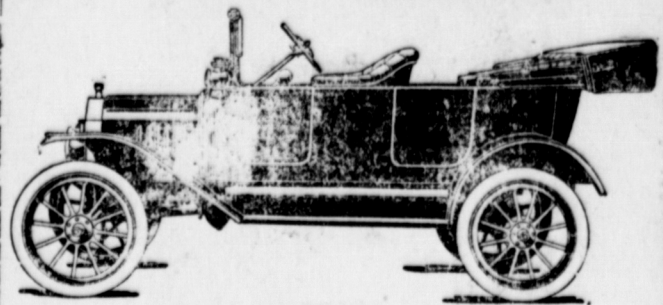

To the voters of Garrard County:-
It is generally known that the late Curt A. Robinson was elected sheriff of Garrard county by one of the largest majorities ever given any man, and that George T. Ballard Jr., was his chief deputy, George T. Ballard Sr., his father, being a partner with Mr.
Robinson in the emoluments or fees of the office. If Mr. Ballard is elected for the two years, yet remaining of the term, he is pledged, and justly so, to give the widow of Mr. Robinson half the profits or fees of the office, which as certainly belong to her as any property he left her. The truth is, an office is a most sacred property right, being bestowed by the people, the highest authority, and it would be the grossest injustice to deprive the holders of such property of their rights. It is not believed that the voters of Garrard county will overlook the principles of justice and equity in this race. If the office belonged to Robinson and Ballard before Mr. Robinson's death, the remainder of the term belongs to Ballard and Mr. Robinson's widow.

If the voters will calmly consider this, as a matter of right and justice, they will not recall or revoke what they have done, and Tom Ballard will be elected by an overwhelming majority.
Fair Play.

Tuesday, September 14th, 1915.

Beginning at 10 o'clock a. m., on the premises two and one-half miles West of Bryantsville and one mile of Bright's Bend pike, sell to the highest bidder, my farm containing about 79 acres, more or less and known as the Smith Williams farm which also includes about 4½ acres known as the Granville Mason place. This farm is well improved with four room frame house and all necessary outbuildings, including a new 6 acre tobacco barn well watered, under good fence and about 50 acres now in grass and remainder in cultivation. This land produces good tobacco, hemp, corn and within one-half mile of good school. At same time will sell the following:

HORSES, MULES, CATTLE, HOGS AND FARMING IMPLEMENTS.

One yearling sorrel colt, 1 two-year-old bay saddle horse, 1 eight-year-old bay Stallion by Chester Dare, 1 six-year-old bay horse, 1 pair three-year-old mules, 3 weanling mules, 2 weanling colts, 1 Jersey heifer, 10 stock hogs weight 100 to 125 pounds, 3 sows and pigs. One Deering binder 1 Deering mower, 1 two horse wagon, 1 spring tooth harrow, 1 riding disc turning plow, 3 double shovel plows.

TERMS OF SALE: The land will be sold on the following terms; One-third cash, balance in three equal payments due in one, two and three years from January 1st, 1916 bearing 6 per cent. Terms of personalities made known on day of sale. Possession given January 1st, 1916 with seeding privilege this fall.

Mrs. Sallie A. Maret, Camp Nelson, Ky.

A. T. SCOTT, Auctioneer.

CANTALOUPE.

About one cantaloupe out of every so many is edible. It is hard to tell a good cantaloupe from looking at its weatherboarding than it is for a green hand to tell a mushroom.

Cantaloupes would come under the head of games of chance were it not for the fact that there is so little chance. When a cantaloupe is good it is a dream.

When it's bad it's a nightmare. There is an old proverb about something's depending "on whose ox is gored."

But you can tell by studying the faces of any herd of breakfasters whose cantaloupe is gourd.

We once saw a grocery sign in Memphis, "Roquefort Melons."

And when we stopped and guffawed loudly at it, an anxious clerk came out and made inquiry as to our merriment.

Next time we went by it said, "Rockyford." The Rockyford melons raised on clay soil in Kentucky from squash seed are of a different flavor from those raised in Colorado.

Acute Indigestion.

"I was annoyed for over a year by attacks of acute indigestion," writes Mrs. M. J. Gallagher, Geneva, N. Y. "I tried everything that was recommended to me for this complaint but nothing did me much good until about four months ago I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. I soon realized that I had gotten the right thing for they helped me at once. Since taking two bottles of them I can eat heartily without any bad effects." Sold by all dealers.

THE TOMB OF NANCY HANKS Half way between Jerusalem and Bethlehem, at the side of the road, stands the tomb of Rachel. Here pious Jew and pious Moslem meet upon neutral ground, the Jew uncovering his head, the Moslem removing his sandals, each as earnest as the other in expressing his veneration. So it will be with turfmens at the tomb of Nancy Hanks on Hamburg Place, where she was sheltered, fed and honored during her declining years by J. E. Madden. The turfman whose creed celebrates the virtues of the thoroughbred will be as ready to make a pilgrimage to the tomb of the great trotting mare as will be the man who stakes his faith upon and centers his affections in the trotter.

There is a good deal of sentiment among lovers of fast horses. Now and again when a crusade against the gambling and gamblers at the race track is in full swing turfmen are pictured as gamblers who utilize horses as devices and whose only interest in improving the breed is improving the speed for purely sordid ends. The argument never is convincing to anyone who has even a slight acquaintance with the class identified with breeding and racing. Everyone who knows anything about the turf knows that the star performer is idolized for achievement, and that the owner shares with the stable boy respect and affections for the turf king, or queen, which is purely sentimental. Breeders of thoroughbreds take less interest in trotters than in runners, and vice versa, but horsemen of all kinds and millions who are not horsemen share admiration of any horse which stands at the top of its class.

The erection of a tomb to Nancy Hanks does not proceed from over estimation of the importance of prominent horses in the view of the race going public, as well as in the view of the breeders, and the larger public which has a newspaper acquaintance with turf notables. There will be among the pilgrims to Hamburg Place many persons who do not own horses or attend races, but who will regard the memorial to a famous trotting mare as reflecting at once a creditable sentiment toward the mare and a right estimate of popular interest in horses whose speed and stamina have made their names, household words and contributed to the literature of their period synonyms for qualities valued far beyond sporting and breeding circles—Courier Journal.

Not glory lures them to the battle-field Nor foolish pride that rails at fancied wrong; They are but thoughtless beast and can but yield The while they feel the fetters of the throng.

But then, methinks, those eyes so filled with pain. Ere yet the glaze of death has robbed their sight, Have known full well how hellish and how vain That carnage is an argument for right.

Green meadows would they call the fields of glory, And brave ones those who help make strong the weak, And love and service then would be the story Of those dumb beasts, if they could only speak.

IF THEY COULD SPEAK.

By WILLIAM J. ACKER.

If they could speak, those dumb beasts as they lie. On battle-fields where war has laid them low, What would the horses tell us ere they die?

What bitter grief do these mute sufferers know? They hold no hate at heart for human-kind, Nor crave they aught, forsooth, but what they need;

And man has taught them but to love and mind, Ofttimes in servitude to his own greed.

Not glory lures them to the battle-field Nor foolish pride that rails at fancied wrong; They are but thoughtless beast and can but yield

The while they feel the fetters of the throng. But then, methinks, those eyes so filled with pain.

Ere yet the glaze of death has robbed their sight, Have known full well how hellish and how vain That carnage is an argument for right.

Green meadows would they call the fields of glory, And brave ones those who help make strong the weak, And love and service then would be the story Of those dumb beasts, if they could only speak.

A NEW DESIGN.

This rough and ready coat supplants summer's light wraps, contrasting their frivolity with its mannish correctness. This belt appears to take the normal line—and keep it.

A CRETONNE COAT.

How to Make One at Home That Looks Smart.

The girls at a summer resort where everybody knows everybody else are, as a rule, very cleanish and dress as much alike as peas. The minute one of their number appears wearing something a little out of the ordinary it is the signal for every other girl to get the same thing, with a slight modification perhaps.

Instead of resenting the fact that you are "copied," you "sort of swell up with pride" that they like your hat, frock or coat well enough to want others like it.

When I first noticed this fact I resolved to be the exception to the rule and not be a "copy cat," but this year my resolution was broken. The cause of my fall from grace was Olive Howell's cretonne coat.

She wore it one evening to the Campbell's lawn party over a white lingerie frock, and it seemed such a practical summery garment and so simply made that I just couldn't resist the temptation to duplicate it.

Mother bought a generous supply of cretonne and chintz before we came here to redecorate the cottage, and there were yards and yards left. So I had a vision of Cicely "togged out" in a coat made from the leavings of the blue guest room, and I made one from the scraps left from the hangings and cushions in mother's room.

Olive lent us her coat to use as a pattern, and we soon had ours well under way. It had to be cut rather like a smock, hanging full from the shoulders to form deep folds about the hem.

I made mine slightly different from Olive's by shortening the coat in front and making a square rolled down collar instead of a rounded one. Just by way of a little contrast I used plain cream colored cretonne for the belt, cuffs and collar, fastening the belt with a flat button covered with the plain material.

The sleeves caused me a bit of trouble, for I had cut them too wide to fit the armhole without gathering them a trifle. This fullness seemed to spoil the coat, so I had to rip them out after having finished them with three rows of machine stitching and cut them smaller.

Then I added a patch pocket to one side and strapped all the seams with seam binding to give the inside of the coat a neat appearance.

Olive's coat is fastened with white frogs made of burl, but as I had nothing of the sort here I had to improvise fastenings from bullet buttons of white porcelain ripped from my linen frock and narrow strips of plain cretonne. I attached a button to each end of a string and slipped it through the buttonholes embroidered on each side of the front. Five of these fasteners were needed to close the coat.

There is no end to the wear one can get from a coat of this type, for whenever they become soiled soap and water will make them like new.—A College Girl.

The Sick Abled Lady.
There is nothing so tasty for an invalid, thinks nurse, than cream toast. Make thin slices of golden brown toast, crisp and dry. Place the slices in a wire sieve and steam soft over hot water. Then butter and put in a soup plate—about three slices put in half. Over them pour white sauce.

Make this by heating a cupful of milk in a double boiler and then adding two tablespoonsful of flour rubbed into two tablespoonsful of butter. Cook gently over a low heat until the flour has lost its starchy taste. Season with salt and pepper and serve very hot.

Such a dish loses its appetizing qualities if it is not hot when served, so it should be carefully covered in transit from the kitchen to the invalid's bedside.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Lancaster Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This Lancaster citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. C. T. Brummett, Crab Orchard St., Lancaster, says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had pains through my back and kidneys. At times I was nervous. Doan's Kidney Pills, made me feel much better and stronger in every way." (Statement given February 6th 1912).

ON A LATER OCCASION, Mrs. Brummett said: "I cannot say too much in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills as a kidney and bladder medicine, for two boxes have cured me of that that trouble."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Brummett had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Miss Ural Blakeman, while on her way to the Marksburg escaped a narrow accident when the shaft broke loose from the buggy, the horse became frightened and started to run, but through her presence of mind was saved from a wreck.

Rev. J. W. Mahan who has been pastor of the church at this place for more than 3 years has been of untold value both spiritually and financially and preached all the good results will never be known this side of eternity and his flock are hoping that a call to another field will not be very soon at least. An "old member" recently said that the church hasn't as much wealth now as formerly and yet more money is raised for the different objects. When Pastor Mahan goes after you for money in his quiet suave way, he gets it. When the efficient secretary, Mr. R. S. Clark reported that more than $100 had been given alone by the Sunday School for the past year the pastor was delightfully surprised.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured.

"My attention was first called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as much as twelve years ago. At that time I was seriously ill with summer complaint. One dose of this remedy checked the trouble," writes Mrs. C. W. Florence, Rockfield, Ind. For sale by all dealers.

The Danville Advocate gives some interesting data concerning the age of great men which seems to explode the statement of Sir William Osler that all men over sixty should be chloroformed. The generals of the European war, French, Joffre, Von Hindenburg, and Grand Duke Nicholas are all more than thirty years older than Napoleon was when he earned his fame as the world's first soldier.

Palmerton died at 91 Prime Minister of England. J. Q. Adams, ex-President of the United States, was doing fine service at the same age in Congress. Gladstone won a great political triumph at 80 and became Premier at 83. O. W. Holmes was 79 when he published "Over the Teacup," but Bancroft was even older when he issued the final volume of his monumental history. "Faust" was completed by Goethe when fourscore. Michelangelo, the designer of St. Peter's Cathedral, was still painting at 89, and that prince of fishermen, Isack Walton, was writing as well as fishing when a nonagenarian. Voltaire and Tennyson were both working when they reached 83, the latter then producing one of his most popular poems, "Crossing the Bar."

Our celebrated Quaker artist, Benjamin West, was transferring his genius to canvas when 10 years beyond man's allotted span, while Benjamin Franklin was past 81 when he sat in Independence Hall and aided powerfully in making the Constitution of the United States.

And Elihu Root, whom President Roosevelt labeled the ablest man in public life in any country, is now helping to make a State Constitution for New York at threescore and ten.

The question of good roads is one of untold importance. It has been considered, from time to time, by the press, but only in a fragmentary way, and never as it has really merited. It is not affirming too much to say that the bad condition of the roads entail a heavier burden on the farming community than do all the taxes of county and state combined. The waste of time the wear and tear on wagons, the excessive work of horses, the loss of opportunity to take advantage of high markets, and the cost to keep the roads even in their present condition, are appalling to consider. But the farmer is not the only loser. The manufacturer, the merchant, and in fact every class are affected by bad country roads. The public roads are of paramount interest to the people at large. The great volume of trade in the state is the common road trade. It exceeds by millions of tons, the tonnage of all the railroads combined.

FALLS IN BARN

Serious Accident.

Crampton Collins, a prominent farmer living near Hyattsville, fell from one of the tiers while hanging tobacco in his barn and sustained injuries, which, if not fatal, will render him an invalid. He had three ribs broken and his hip fractured by the fall.

DIPHTHERIA

Forces School To Close At Nina.

Because of the contracting of diphtheria the Nina School, it was thought best to close that school and Superintendent Higgins ordered it closed.

Elizabeth Anna Prather, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Prather was stricken with this disease and died Friday. No other cases have been reported.

SCHOOL OPENS

Attendance Breaks All Records.

On Monday morning the Lancaster Graded School opened for the year. The opening exercises were led by Prof M. L. Caner, Principal of the school and short talks were made by J. W. Elmore, J. A. Beazley, S. D. Cochran, J. R. Mount and Mrs. J. B. Kinnaird. The enrollment for this term is the largest in the history of the School, the number being 350. This number is expected to increase within the next two weeks. Quite a number who live outside the Lancaster school district are enrolled, especially in the High School department.

Four new teachers will be here this year; Miss Mary Elmore of Lancaster, and Miss Katherine Parke of Columbia, Tenn., who will teach the 6th grade, Miss Kathleen Shreve of Greensburg, Ky., who will succeed Miss Webb as Music teacher. Mrs. Todd of Stanford has been added to the faculty and will teach Voice and Expression.

The faculty is as follows: Primary, Miss Brashear, 2nd Grade, Miss Amanda Anderson, 3rd Grade, Miss Della Tindler, 4th Grade, Miss Mary Elmore, 5th and 6th Grades, Miss Katherine Parke, 7th and 8th Grades, Miss Eliza Smith, High School, Prof. Caner, Miss Robinson, Miss Mason, Miss Hatcher. Parents are urged to start their children now, as there will be no class organized in January this year as has been done in the past.

REV. A. J. CLERE.

Rev. A. J. Clere who has accepted the pastorate at the Baptist Church will fill that pulpit Sunday morning at eleven and Sunday evening at seven thirty.

ALL ROOMS RESERVED.

Every available space in Ewin Hall, the new men's dormitory at Transylvania University and the College of the Bible, has been reserved, according to President R. H. Crossfield, discussing the optimistic prospects for the university this year. Students are coming in from all sections of the country and will continue to come, since other accommodations may be arranged. Matriculation opens at the university Monday, September 13th.—Lexington Herald.

BIG SALE DINNER.

One of the biggest and best dinners ever served at a sale, was the one served by the Scott heirs at Beuna Vista last Friday. One beef weighing 1100 pounds, ten sheep and fifty chickens were killed. Besides this they had two hundred and fifty gallons of burgoo, coffee, bread and salad in abundance. Two thousand people were served bountifully. No one went away hungry but every one was loud in their praise of the good dinner and the hospitality of the Scott family.

AN EPOCH IN CIRCUSDOM.

When the management of the Robinson Famous Shows, which exhibits at Richmond on Sept. 7th, decided to inaugurate their eighty-fourth season as a successful purveyor of all that is good in circusedom to the public, they decided to create a new departure, their idea being to combine a first-class circus and wild west performance under one mammoth stretch of water-proof and sun-proof canvas, and for one price of admission, something never attempted before by any showman. Both circus and Wild West will be complete exhibitions in themselves in every detail, making the best exhibition ever offered to the public. While giving two distinct exhibitions, the price will be the same as charged for either circus or Wild West by other managers.

A debate of great interest to the colored population was held at Eclipse Hall, Friday evening.

The contestants were: Wm. Bates, of Atlanta, Ga. Prof. Cunningham, of Providence, R. I. Rev. J. M. Gare Andrew Beazley and Earnest Doty. The subject for debate was, "If a parent has two children, boy and girl and is not able to educate both, which should he educate, the boy or the girl?" Wm. Bates, of Atlanta, Ga., won this hotly contested debate, arguing on the feminine side, his opponents never seemed able to offset his opening remark: "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, therefore should be an educated hand."

LABOR LEADER IS

AMONG TESTIFIERS

Charles Peetz Tells How Tanlac Brought Him Ready Relief.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 1st, 1915.—Here is what Charles Peetz, prominent labor leader, of 101 West Market street this city, has to say about Tanlac, the premier preparation, and the benefits he derived from the use of the medicine:

"I have been in a half-sick condition for months. I was all run-down, nervous, and had no appetite. My stomach was out of order and my digestion was bad. I often had headaches and was depressed in spirits.

"I find that Tanlac just exactly suits my case. After using the medicine about a week or ten days, my appetite and digestion are much better. I now sleep better and feel stronger in every way."

Tanlac, the premier preparation, that proved such a boon to Mr. Peetz and hundreds of others in Louisville and Kentucky, is now being taken with the most beneficial results by many of our citizens right here in Lancaster. It is an excellent spring tonic, blood purifier and tissue builder.

Tanlac can be obtained in Lancaster at R. E. McRoberts drug store, and at Bryantsville by Becker, Ballard and Scott.

CHOLERA WEATHER.

Our people, nearly all of them, are blessed at this season with quantities of fresh vegetables and fruits of various varieties and first quality. It is the time of year when our appetites need tempting and our poorest homes can set a table to tempt a king. It is also the time of the year when we should be exceedingly careful what we eat. Vegetables should be selected and prepared for the table with great care. Faulty and defective ones and those that have begun to decay should be rejected. All fruits that are eaten should be ripe—not over-ripe—and of good quality. The incessant rains and the hot sun do much in a short time toward making unfit for food vegetables and fruits that have reached their prime; especially is this true of melons. Insist upon your vegetables being sound and fresh, your fruit and melons at their prime; be careful in their preparation for the table and you may save doctors bills. We are told the weather of the two epidemics of cholera which visited Lancaster closely resembled the weather we have been having, so from every standpoint it is best to be careful.

WHY HE'S SILENT.

Sometimes they ask us why we do not "publish all of the news." And if we did the first dose would be enough to start him after us with a shotgun—Hyden Thousandsticks.

Correct, my son; we have right here in our desk an account of a certain happening in this city which if we had published would have broken up the meeting, would have caused any quantity of trouble to a great many people and this here hired man would have been out of a job.—Frankfort Courier.

And if we published all the news we knew about people in this city there would be half a dozen murders right off the reel and our scalp wouldn't be worth a peck of worm-eaten butterbeans.—Winchester Democrat.

And if we printed two lines about capers that are cut by some Somerset folks we know who pose as respectable and haven't paid the last installment on their ear, it would take Doc Owens six months, working 24 hours a day to get the snort picked out of us.—Somerset Journal.

The man who gets mad at what the newspaper says about him should return thanks three times a day for what the newspaper knew about him and suppressed.

The waste baskets in a newspaper office of any town do more to keep its citizens in good repute than any other agency, except the fear of the law and he hereafter.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER MACHINES

Our Aim is to Explain International Harvester Engines

ALL the features of a good engine cannot be learned in a day. Yet every man who buys an engine should know all those features and should be able to make comparisons with any engine offered him.

There are certain features of design, material, machining and construction necessary to produce best results. These results are what you are interested in, because they mean economy and the ability to do your work.

The design is important. Of two engines with the same weight, same bore and stroke, running at the same speed, one will develop anywhere up to 50 per cent more horse-power than the other, and may last twice as long, simply because of difference in design. International Harvester engines all have those features. The first time you are in town, drop in and we will show you some of the reasons why I H C engines develop so much power and last so long.

Misses Dunn, Johnson and Beagle were in the receiving line to welcome the guests, Misses Isabel and Elizabeth Terrill served "trappee" upon the porch, while Misses Margaret Cook, Katie Barnes Dickerson and Minnie May Robinson assisted in entertaining the happy throng.

The house was quite attractive in its decorations of yellow and green, the color scheme being carried out in the ices and cake. The guests departed with reluctance and lavish praises for the pleasant social evening.

NEWLY-WEDS

County clerk Hamilton issued marriage license to two couple this week. John H. Morris, age 21, to Miss Nora Merida who is just 15. What this couple lacked in years was fully made up by George Baker, who gave his age as 72 and was granted a license to marry Rinda Hopkins, who is just past 70. Mr. Baker is the father of ten living children and has been married four times.

Wednesday afternoon Judge C. A. Arnold united in marriage, Mr. Henly Portwood, age 36 and Mrs. Belle McKechnie, age 45. The last couple being from lower Garrard and prominently connected, Mrs. McKechnie being the widow of William McKechnie who died about one year ago.

HARMONY THE KEY

NOTE AT LOUISVILLE.

The State Democracy, in convention Tuesday, adapted a set of principles on which to go before the people this year in Kentucky. The county unit was one of these, and others included advanced positions on matters of public policy in the State. Gen. W. B. Halde- man was named national commit- man, succeeding Urey Woodson, and Judge S. W. Hager succeeded Rufus Vansant as State chairman. James P. Edwards and George R. Martin succeeded A. G. Rhea and Bridges White on the State Executive and Central Committees, respectively. The delegates sat on Senator J. C. W. Beckham when he attempted to inject discord into the convention, which had been harmonious throughout the day and night.

In the next issue we will publish in full the Democratic Platform.

DESERVED PRAISE TO A

FORMER DANVILLE MAN.

Louisville Herald—It's a far cry from Danville, Ky., to Compiegne, France. It seems almost ludicrous to mention them in the same breath. Yet Dr. Alex Carrell, magician of the surgeon's knife, now in the military hospital of the latter place, must have thought often during his trying experiences of a certain backwoods physician who lived long before the days when Nobel prizes were awarded for great achievements in science.

In his modern field laboratory, Dr. Carrell has just discovered in hypochlorite of lime what he believes is the ideal antiseptic. More than a hundred years before, Dr. Ephraim McDowell, ignorant of germ life or germs, performed the first abdominal operation in the United States. Carrell is far from the battle line while he labors for humanity. McDowell, in his weather-boarded house in Danville, knew that outside his door were men with flintlocks who would kill him if his labors were unsuccessful.

Yes, it's a far cry from Danville to Compiegne. But between the two lies all the history of modern surgery.

It was in 1809 that McDowell braved the threats of a mob to perform an act of humanity. Half a century later Pasteur discovered that all about us are micro-organisms, bacteria, germs, or what you please to call them, the function of many of which is to spread disease and sufferings. When this theory was nunciated, Lord Lister, in England, began an investigation of germ life in connection with surgery. He knew that in the treatment of wounds the greatest difficulty was to arrest infection. The cause of infection is bacteria, he declared. Fight poisons with poisons, was his conclusion, and from his discoveries Lister stands recognized today as the father of surgery.

From this point the advancement has been by leaps and bounds. From the contribution of Oliver Wendell Holmes to those of Mayo, Murphy and Matas, the antiseptic has been of first importance. Anaesthetics and antiseptics have made possible this progress.

Think, then, of Ephraim McDowell, with only his faith in the beneficence of Nature to guide him, knowing the many dangers from infection, but trusting in God for success. His name kept alive in the past by a Kentucky medical society, is today almost forgotten. His home, which should be a shrine, is falling into ruins. America's pioneer in modern surgery, a Kentuckian, and Kentuckians are oblivious to his fame.

It's a far cry from Danville to Compiegne. But for heroism, for genius, for abiding faith in God, for that self-reliance that make men great the palm should be given to the backwoodsman of Kentucky.

FAMILY REUNION

At Mr. Will Henry's near Malony Springs a happy reunion was held Sunday and forty were present. A bountiful feast was spread out in the yard under a large oak tree. Delicious meats, salads and such cakes as you see on Christmas and many other good things were served. Watermelons were smiling on the vines just across the yard fence, many were eaten and enjoyed. We were also entertained by music and picture-taking and etc.

Those present were Mr. Henry's three brothers and families, Mrs. Henry's father and mother one brother, three uncles one cousin and their families, and two daughters. This was a day of pleasure and fun that will be long remembered by each of us. I hope this pleasant occasion will occur again.

TO OPEN SECOND PLATTSBURG CAMP

Many Enrolled and Instruction Begins Sept. 6.

LABOR LEADERS ARE INVITED

Members of First Camp Enjoy Seventy Mile March and Their First Sham Battle—Had No Cots and Were Forced to Sleep on the Hard, Cold Ground.

General Leonard Wood has made the announcement that another camp of military instruction would be opened in Plattsburg, N. Y., immediately after the dissolution of the present camp on Sept. 6. More than 300 have already enrolled, and General Wood said that, judging from the flood of applications for enrollment, the new camp will be fully as large as the first.

Among the first to signify their intention of enrolling was J. M. Dickinson of Illinois, ex-secretary of war. President Lowell of Harvard has announced that if he can arrange his affairs to permit it he will enroll too. Owing to criticism of these camps of military instruction by labor leaders General Wood has announced that he will extend a personal and cordial invitation to President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor to visit and inspect the next camp here. General Wood said that he wanted it understood that these camps are open to all American citizens of good standing and that he is particularly anxious that men of the working class should take advantage of them.

Lieutenant Karl Truesdale, quartermaster, has been directed by General Wood to estimate the cost of the new camp, and this already has been done and the estimates submitted to the department commander. Preparations are already under way at the camp for the reception of the new class of recruits, and when the men reach Plattsburg in September they will find the tented city on the lake shore ready to house all who make application for instruction.

First Sham Battle.

The thousand business and professional men at the camp of military instruction marched out of the camp with their blankets and shelter tents strapped on their backs and carrying their rifles and ammunition belts loaded with blank cartridges and engaged in their first sham battle.

In company with the regular troops they started on their long practice march, during which they marched approximately seventy miles, sleeping at night on the ground rolled up in their army blankets under small shelter tents capable of covering but two men. The comfortable spring cots and mattresses in use in the camp were left behind, and the only clothing and camp equipment which each man had while on the "bake" were such as he carried on his back.

Large numbers of the soldiers were killed in the naval battle of Plattsburg. The records made by some of the "rifle" gun squads in firing at these targets were excellent and were commented upon by the artillery officers on duty at the camp.

EXILE IN ARCTIC PRISON.

"Grandmother of Russian Revolution" Is Given a Transfer.

Mme. Catherine Breshkovskaya, known the world over eight years ago as "the grandmother of the Russian revolution," now serving a life exile in Siberia, has been transferred to the far northern city of Yakutsk, on the edge of the arctic circle, according to a letter received from her by Miss Alice Stone Blackwell.

Mme. Breshkovskaya is seventy-one years old and is suffering from cataracts of both eyes, so that she cannot read. Her banishment to Yakutsk, least desirable of all towns in Siberia, came at the end of eighteen months' solitary imprisonment at Irkutsk, where she had been sent from Siberia, where she had been sent for life. She served two additional months in prison, the letter says, because no caravan was to start for Yakutsk when her term ended.

About ten years ago Mme. Breshkovskaya came to America and made many friends in this country, among them Miss Jane Addams and Julia Ward Howe. After her return to Russia she was arrested, found guilty of distributing arms and sentenced to life exile.

HE GROWS SALTED POTATOES

Wisconsin Farmer's "Spuds" Are Also Peppered and May Be Buttered.

Waupaca is generally acknowledged as the potato capital of Wisconsin and the United States. Hence it is natural a Waupaca man, E. J. Rose, conceived the idea of growing seasoned "spuds" ready for the table.

He claims his efforts are successful, and he has potato growers gasping with astonishment over his novel methods. It is solemnly asserted that this man has perfected a type that comes from the hill salted and peppered. He is now said to be working on a process that will butter the product. By planting a row of peppers between each row of potatoes, it was a comparatively simple matter to inject the pepper taste.

Brother Jim's Language

Brother Jim's language is simple. Simple as it can be. All of the words he uses Number but two times three.

Daddy and day and ditty. Go-go and day and day. And I know you can learn their meanings In one little lesson from me.

Go-go, of course, means go-go; Daddy, of course, means me; Day's definition is mother; Ditty is listen or see.

Dah is all else in creation. Save only the things that are day. Just look where he points to discover What day or what day it may be.

Why trouble to learn Esperanto? How much more involved it must be Than day and day and ditty And go-go and day and day!—Rings W. Lardner in Chicago Tribune.

COMMISSION WOULD LIMIT INHERITANCES TO $1,000,000

Some Members of Board Find Vast Fortunes Contribute to Unrest.

Vast fortunes and lack of work are the chief causes of the present industrial and social unrest in this country, according to the summaries of three reports given out by the United States commission on industrial relations, which were prepared for the use of congress.

The commission then went out of existence. During the two years of work none of the members was able to reach an agreement over the vital problems, so that none of the three reports can be properly called a "majority" report. The board was composed of three members representing employers, three representing employees and three representing the general public.

Only the first section of the principal report, that made by Basil L. Manly, director of research and investigation for the commission, has been made public.

The Manly report finds that the social unrest in this country is largely due to the unequal distribution of wealth. It recommends the enactment of an inheritance tax so graded that, while making generous provision for the support of dependents and the education of minor children, it shall leave no large accumulation of wealth to pass into the hands which had no share in its production.

In the belief that social and industrial unrest can be in a large measure relieved by placing a million dollar limit upon inheritances members of the commission favor the establishment of a permanent industrial commission which should be supported by the income derived from an inheritance tax on large incomes.

It is proposed to graduate this tax from 1 per cent on the excess of a $25,000 fortune to 15 per cent on a fortune of more than $1,000,000. Other provisions of the report:

Warn against "industrial princes" like the Rockefellers, Morgans, Fricks, Vanderbilts and Astors.

Urges the absolute right of labor to organize and the enactment of national eight hour and minimum wage laws.

Advocate a revision of land laws and recommend litigation to regain public lands, war power and mineral rights obtained by fraud.

Urges taxation of nonproductive land, but exemption of the improvements thereon.

Urges an amendment to the constitution providing in specific terms against encroachment on rights of citizens to free speech, jury trial, to keep and bear arms, to freedom from excessive bail and from cruel and unusual punishment.

WIRES CUT BY NEW WAY.

German Application of Electric Forces Destroys Entanglements.

The Germans have now some mysterious scientific device for clearing a way through wire entanglements from a considerable distance, says a Petrograd dispatch. The instrument has all the appearance of what is known as a projector—that is, a searchlight. No specimen has yet been captured and nothing is known about it, except that it disposes of wire entanglements from a distance of a mile by some means at present incomprehensible to the lay mind.

Greek fire projectors have now made their appearance on the western front. These also were apparently intended originally to fuse wire defenses, but they can only operate from a maximum of a couple of score yards. The new instrument must probably be some novel and hitherto unknown application of electric forces.

LUSITANIA IN TEN VOLUMES.

Mrs. A. G. Vanderbilt Has Record of Press Clippings Compiled.

An unusual record of the destruction of the Lusitania and the subsequent developments in the case has been prepared at the request of Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt. The record consists of ten volumes of newspaper clippings concerning the sinking of the ship by a German submarine. Each volume contains 100 pages of clippings, and is an inch and a half thick.

The books are bound in Russian leather and bear the inscription "S. S. Lusitania, May 7, 1915." Many of the clippings tell of the heroic last moments of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, during which he assisted women and children on the sinking ship.

Mrs. Vanderbilt intends ultimately to present the volumes to the library of Yale university.

AMERICAN BOY OF SLIDING

Member of Foreign Legion Says Ty Cobb Can't Compare With Soldiers.

TRAGIC and humorous phases of trench fighting and camp life in the European war appear in the letters home of Russell Kelly, the son of James E. Kelly of New York city. Kelly is twenty-two. He left New York in November of last year, supposedly for a visit to the San Francisco exposition. The first word received of him was that on Nov. 24, at Bordeaux, he had enlisted in the Foreign legion for the duration of the war.

He was officially recorded at Depot de Lyons as missing on July 1, and it is believed that he is now a prisoner. The following letter to his father is published by the New York Evening Sun:

Dear Dad—I wish they had some of those trench digging machines World's Advance tells about, because I have dug 1,000 miles of trenches, or nearly that many. They are constantly digging new and repairing old trenches, so now we have an elaborate system of underground streets.

After I sent my last letter off we got orders to pack all our stuff and be ready to move during the night. About midnight a French regiment relieved us and we started to march. It was a very disagreeable night, and, coupled with chilly, penetrating fog and the rather forced march, we were fatigued when we reached a small town at 5 a. m., and we of the fifteenth escadron were assigned to a sort of cow shed. The ground was as hard as a rock and cold. We turned in, but as tired as we were, it was impossible to get much sleep. Outside there was a small yard with a squad kitchen on one side and our quarters on the other.

I'll stop here a second to say a word about the men in our squad. The corporal could be most anything, but I think he is a Frenchman. He is a quiet fellow and O. K. There are four legionnaires with us; one of them has served fifteen years with the legion and the other about ten. They are both naturalized Frenchmen and fast friends.

Soldiers Big Children.

The old timer has a huge beard and is a very quiet character. I enjoy watching him; he reminds me so much of those gnomes which used to interest me when I was small. The other fellow is small and very brown. The way they confide in each other is ludicrous. When one has an imaginary illness he takes the other aside, and the way they put their heads together and sympathize with each other is laughable. As they share their sorrows they also share their joys.

You buy their kind of joy by the can-teen, and believe me, they are a joyous pair. The old fellow has been joyous for about fifteen years.

We have two Italian brigands. One is a big, husky fellow, and the other is a typical dramatic villain—good looking, dashing and all that stuff. We have an Italian kid with us, but he is only a nuisance. The two brigands take an interest in him to the extent of continually kicking and cuffing him around. Well, as I was reading your magazine I heard a noise in the yard and upon going out found the six foot corporal slugging the five foot five legionnaire. I was glad to see it, because the little fellow needs a beating. He talks too much. Weeks was out there, but he did not like the unevenness of the fight, so interfered. The big brigand then came up and hit the little legionnaire a beaut, knocking him across the yard. The little fellow got up just in time to be knocked back across the yard, and the big fellow was going to repeat the performance when Weeks intervened again.

By this time we were all out in the yard enjoying the fun. The argument got hot and finally, as usual, the peacemaker got a wallop in the jaw. The American section acted as if they were all hit, and in fact, they were if one of them was hit. In about a second it was the biggest free for all I was ever in or hope to be in. We battled around the yard to a fare-you-well, and in no time the guard was on the scene with fixed bayonets, but we still kept on.

Brigand With a Brickbat.

In a hulk in the action I happened to look around in time to see the villainous looking brigand picking up a brick. I made a bee line for him and received a good clout on my head for my trouble. The guards eventually separated us, but we carried the day.

I landed at the infirmary and had my head bandaged. They looked Pavek up, but he should have come with me, as a friend of the bandit's hit him on the forehead with a dishpan. He needed bandaging and was sent back immediately. We all shook hands and called it square.

Resumed Writing May 17. The next day we marched to the railroad and came north. It was a stretched trip, as we were overcrowded. We disembarked at a town called Aubigny, but located in another town, it night we used to march down to the trenches and work. It was very dangerous. One night the third fellow from me was hit in the stomach. It is good to work when in those conditions, as work takes the mind from the bullets. Inaction under fire is a terrible strain on the nerves.

Champagne district is not a circumstance to this. The outposts here are only fifty yards apart, and at night we go out on the field and lie down, four hours at a stretch, to guard against a surprise.

We went back to a small town, arriving there at 10 a. m. At 1 o'clock the following morning we were routed out. At daylight we reached the third line of trenches and at 5 a. m. the bombardment commenced.

Brothers Killed Side By Side.

You remember in my letter from Lyons I spoke about three brothers from Argentina and how inseparable they were. Well, they are inseparable even in death, as they were killed side by side. Our regiment, the First, lost heavily in killed and wounded, not more than half coming back. One of the Belgian legionnaires and the little Italian kid I spoke about were too frightened to leave our trenches.

After leaving our trenches and crossing the Germans, which were battered to pieces by the bombardment, our first stop was in the shelter of a raft. Here the good looking brigand, the fellow who hit me with the brick, became reckless and tried to survey the landscape. He was killed instantly by a bullet through the heart. No convulsive tossing of the arms one reads about or sees in the movies; he just sank down and it was all over.

Soon after we left this position the other brigand was shot through the leg. There was absolutely no ill feeling between us on account of our scrap.

We advance by sections. When the order comes we jump up and, carrying the sack as a shield, run about 100 feet, and talk about Ty Cobb sliding into second base—it isn't a circumstance the way I hit the grit. And what a strain it was to the nerves waiting for our turn to advance again, fellows all around being hit! In a couple of cases I have seen men almost lifted from the ground, so hard were they hit.

One fellow very near me got hit and began to squeal. Almost immediately a second bullet hit him, and he made for the rear on all fours, crying like a baby.

The field was full of such sights. But compared to the shells the bullets are nothing. Give me most anything but an artillery bombardment. Shortly after we gained the crest of the hill their artillery came up and began firing on us. It was terrible.

The way those shells would tear by and dig a hole five feet deep was enough for the most solid nerves. At night we were in trenches, but were on the watch all night. The next day the artillery opened on us again, and their infantry started an attack, but we stood firm and smeared them. We were relieved that night and returned to Mont St. Eloi. This town, however, was in range, and the Germans shelled us at intervals, but with no material damage.

RUSSELL. The above refers to the battle of La Targette, May 9, 1915.

DO YOU PLAY BREVET?

Latest Game Combines Tennis, Golf and Croquet.

Have you played the new game of brevet? Brevet is a combination game—golf, tennis and croquet all rolled into one game—that has the thrills of all and requires the skill and dexterity of each, says the Springfield Republican. It is played on the lawn. At first it looks like a dunch. All you have to do is to select a mallet or a golf club, strike a wooden ball, drive it around a stake or through a wicket, against a net and then put it back into a large hole. But when you come to try it you begin to feel foolish as your stroke score mounts higher and higher, and you are ready to spend the rest of the day trying to beat your own record.

While there are variations of the game, it is played generally like golf, hole for hole, either in match play or for a medal score. It requires balance and precision. Occasionally the ball has to be jumped into the air from the net. In the west the game has become so popular that tournaments have been held.

DIVING DOG CATCHES FISH.

Has Landed Several Hundred Pounds in Few Months For Master.

James C. Duggens, a farmer who lives at Aurora, Ind., has a water spaniel that is noted along the stream for its method of catching fish. The dog has caught several hundred pounds during the last few months for its owner and his neighbors. The dog dives into the water and soon appears with a fish in its mouth and will repeat its diving for several hours at a time.

ITALIAN SUBMARINE UNDER WATER FOR SEVENTY HOURS

Given Up as Lost, the Nereide Returns Safely to Its Base.

Praise is being showered upon the crew of the Italian submarine Nereide, who through an accident were compelled to remain beneath the surface for seventy hours without food or light and their supply of oxygen almost exhausted before the engines were repaired and the vessel was able to reach her base in safety, greatly to the surprise of naval officials, who believed the craft was lost. Even the ministry of marine accepted the report from Vienna to the effect that the Nereide, one of Italy's newer submarines, had been destroyed by an Austrian war vessel.

Hour after hour in the stifling, brain bursting interior of the submarine, without sleep, without rest, they worked. Then the thickening fumes took their toll of the commander, and a subordinate directed the work. The men lost trace of time. Once they obtained a few revolutions of the screw, and a faint, husky cheer used up more of the precious oxygen. But their exhilaration was brief, for the motors stopped again, and the work had to be done all over.

Two more men collapsed and were barely kept alive when the chief engineer, exploring with blind fingers, found the seat of trouble and at length repaired it. The motors started once more. Slowly the shell began to rise from the bottom. The periscope reached the surface and found a clear sea. Out from the water came the hull, and the hatch of the conning tower was opened for the first breath of fresh air in three long days. But it was too late for the three men in collapse below. They died without regaining consciousness. Two more men died on the way to port.

PRIEST SCORES $12,000,000.

Fears Burden of Wealth and Renounces Great Legacies.

The Rev. William Graham of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church, Pittsburgh, has refused to accept legacies left him by relatives in Sydney, Australia, and Bolivia, South America, exceeding $12,000,000. The priest, who is sixty years old, says that he is too old to be burdened with such wealth, and that he has enough of this world's goods, anyway.

"It may seem strange," Father Graham said, "that I should do this, but I will sleep better when I know the solicitors have taken my refusal seriously and finally, and cease to consider me in the distribution of the wealth. I have long known that uncles of mine named Murphy and Hughes lived in Australia, and that they were possessors of vast landed estates and immense herds of cattle, sheep and horses, and that I was the nearest kin; also that I had several stepchildren named Graham in Bolivia who were said to be immensely wealthy and childless. But I never knew any of them personally, and, in fact, never communicated with them in any manner. Why, then, even were I disposed to pile up this world's goods, should I accept any of the inheritances they have left?"

WINS SUIT FOR SIX CENTS.

Amount Was Awarded in Slander Case, and Plaintiff Had to Sue to Collect.

Attorney Frank H. Martin sued John H. Kane for 6 cents in Detroit and won. The fact that the costs and time involved in the case amounted to several hundred times the 6 cents did not detract from the joy of the victory.

Martin sighed with satisfaction as he juggled the six pennies which Kane took from his pocket with great reluctance.

Several months ago Martin was retained by Kane's wife to represent her in a suit for divorce against her husband. Some time later Kane, among other divers things, said to Martin: "You are a cur; you have ruined my home."

Martin started suit for slander and the jury awarded him 6 cents. Kane refused to pay. Martin then started justice court action and the verdict was in his favor.

CHINA'S PRESIDENT MAY WEAR CROWN

Yuan Shih Kai Thinking of Proclaiming Himself Emperor.

GOODNOW INDORSES PLAN.

American Who Is Legal Adviser to the Government Cites Reasons Why It Is Better to Have a Monarchy in That Country—Nation Creates Sensation.

The project of proclaiming himself emperor is now being discussed by Yuan Shih Kai, president of the Chinese republic, with his immediate supporters and Professor Frank Johnson Goodnow of Johns Hopkins university, legal adviser to the Chinese government, who is spending the summer in Peking.

Professor Goodnow, who secured the confidence of Yuan Shih Kai by advice given during former critical times, has been consulted on this question since his arrival in Peking not long ago, and it is learned that he approves the project.

Says Conditions Differ.

The news became public by the publication of accounts of the formation by several prominent men of an association for the purpose of discussing whether a monarchy is not the better form of government for China. The published article telling of the formation of the society quotes Professor Goodnow as declaring that for China a monarchy is a better form of government than a republic and that "conditions are different in China and America, and it is impossible to transplant a system from one country to another."

It was learned from one of Yuan Shih Kai's immediate supporters that if the project proved feasible the plan is to establish the monarchy within two years.

Goodnow Invited to Peking.

It is stated that Professor Goodnow was asked to come to Peking and that soon after his arrival Yuan Shih Kai consulted with him on the question of a permanent constitution and broached the question of a monarchy. The arguments of Yuan's supporters, it is declared, persuaded Professor Goodnow that a monarchy should be established if the people would accept it, and Professor Goodnow drafted a document for Yuan, advising him on the method of establishing a monarchy.

In the announcement of the project, which is made to appear as coming from a group of leading citizens, Professor Goodnow is quoted extensively as a great authority advocating the necessity for a monarchy. This pronouncement says:

"As Professor Goodnow is a citizen of a republic, he is more competent to make such a statement than others."

Professor Goodnow said he had made no blanket statement that a monarchy was better than a republic, but said that under certain conditions such as apply in China he believes a monarchy would be better.

Danger of Chaos Is Cited.

The foremost arguments of the monarchists is the danger of chaos reigning as in Mexico at Yuan Shih Kai's death. The succession of Vice President L. Yuan Yang, who was the nation's hero in the anti-Manchu revolution, but who has been a prisoner on an island in the Winter palace grounds the past two years, would, it is declared, be unsatisfactory to some of Yuan Shih Kai's immediate supporters because it is asserted they would be unable to control him.

Yuan Shih Kai's eldest son is a partial invalid owing to an injury to his head sustained in being thrown from his horse, while his other sons are unimportant youths.

It is believed that the project will be consummated more or less speedily unless dangerous objection is displayed throughout the country, which is considered unlikely because the press is largely controlled by the government and the people apparently are willing to accept any government which will give them a period of peace.

Became Republic in 1912.

China became a republic Feb. 12, 1912, upon the abdication of the Emperor Kwang Su, following the revolution of the previous year. A provisional constitution, formulated by the revolutionary government of Nanking, was accepted and under this a provisional parliament met in Peking April 8, 1913.

A permanent constitution was drafted and the articles dealing with the election and term of office of president and vice president were passed by parliament. Under these Yuan Shih Kai, Oct. 6, was elected president for a five year term.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 30 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Will Democrats Endorse Submission of Woman Suffrage?

Mrs. Murray Hubbard, of Ft. Thomas, Ky., and Her Little Son.

Mrs. Hubbard is chairman of a committee of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, numbering 17,000 women, which is trying to get woman suffrage into the platforms of the political parties. She is also Congressional Chairman of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association, which numbers 15,000 women.

The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, numbering 17,000 women, voted in May to ask the political parties of Kentucky to put into their platforms, a plank calling for the submission by the next legislature of a constitutional amendment to the voters of Kentucky granting full suffrage to the women of the State.

Mrs. Murray Hubbard, of Ft. Thomas, as the member of the Federation who offered the resolution calling for action by the political parties, was made the chairman of a committee to urge this plank.

Her Success to Date

Mrs. Hubbard's first effort was to get action from the Republican Convention in June. She got the plank endorsing submission. Those present say it brought forth more applause from the Convention than any other plank of the platform.

The Prohibition Party stands this year, as always, for woman suffrage. The leaders of the Progressive Party have assured Mrs. Hubbard that the Progressives will re-enact their former platform, of which one of the most vigorous planks was for woman suffrage.

Will the Democrats Stand By Their Principles?

Mrs. Hubbard will not ask the Resolutions Committee of the Democratic Convention for a plank endorsing woman suffrage; she will merely ask for a plank endorsing submission of the question to the voters. Surely this is Democracy pure and simple. The women are not trying to force suffrage down the throats of the Democrats; they are simply asking them to submit the question. If the women, who can never cast a single ballot in their own behalf, are willing to take their chances with the men of Kentucky, surely a Legislature of men, or a political party of men, especially one that calls itself Democratic, if its members have the courage we expect in Kentuckians, will be brave enough to submit the case to the men voters.

President Woodrow Wilson has said that woman suffrage is a question for the states to settle. The Democrats in Congress have refused Federal suffrage because they believe in the States' Rights doctrine. Then the Democratic party of a state, when the women of that state ask suffrage by the States' Rights method, will surely endorse their having a hearing before the people. That is Democracy and it is common justice. Every subject citizen, even should have his chance in court.

Speaker Champ Clark has said that the coming of woman suffrage is as inevitable as the rising of the morning sun. Even a blind man must see now that the question is not whether suffrage will come, but merely when it will come. Over 4,000,000 women in the United States are now eligible to vote in Presidential elections; 45% of the territory of the United States is now "free white territory," as it is marked on the suffrage maps. Ninety-one electors of the electoral college are sent there by the votes of women as well as men.

The Effete East

For the first time suffrage is being submitted to the vote of the people in the Eastern states; in four of these states the submission bill has triumphantly passed two successive legislatures with overwhelming majorities. The people will vote on the question in New Jersey in October. At the November elections, the Keystone State of Pennsylvania will vote, the Empire State of New York will vote, and the State of Massachusetts, where, perhaps, the Pilgrim Fathers are turning over in their graves, and where it is to be hoped the Pilgrim Mothers are turning over also—as the worm turns finally—to see their daughters come into their own after so many generations.

The Solid South

But to a Southerner, even more significant is the breaking of the solid South on the woman suffrage question. The legislature of West Virginia, first of all the states south of the Mason and Dixon's Line, has voted to submit the question to the people; it goes to the vote in November, 1917. Within a few weeks of the time West Virginia voted, the legislatures of Arkansas and Tennessee both voted to submit, and in the lower house of Texas, the Submission Bill lost by only four votes, polling 90, when 94 would have carried it. In Tennessee and Arkansas the bill must go to the legislature again, but Tennessee women have an additional chance in that a Constitutional Convention has been called, partly as a result of their efforts, to which they will also put their cause.

Will Kentucky Lead or Follow?

In the year 1838, Kentucky men granted school suffrage to a limited class of women. This was the first suffrage granted any English speaking women in the modern movement for the political emancipation of women. Will Kentucky lead now or will she follow? The time has passed when she can any longer lead the Union, as she used to do in early days, when her statesmen shaped national policies. But she still has a chance to lead the states of the South. Will she do it?

If the Democratic Party in Kentucky endorses the submission of the woman suffrage question, and the next legislature passes the bill, Kentucky men have a bare chance to lead the South, as in the old days they lead it. If the Democratic Convention fails to do this, if the Legislature of 1916 fails to do this, Kentucky has no chance; for, it is practically certain that other Southern states will come in before she has another opportunity to submit the question to her people. Kentucky men, do you want to lead or to follow in justice to your women and in appreciation of their service?

SUFFRAGE IN GEORGIA WOULD HELP MORE THAN LYNCHINGS.

The Mayor of Atlanta tries to justify the lynching of Frank upon the ground that "When it comes to a woman's honor, there is no limit we will not go to avenge and protect." A fair standard by which to measure the desire of the men of a State to protect the honor of women is the law fixing the "age of consent" for girls.

Georgia is the only State in the Union which has no statute on the subject, precedent has fixed it sometimes at ten and sometimes at twelve years.

The age of consent in the woman suffrage states is from eighteen to twenty-one years. Even in Kentucky, one of the backward states in this respect, it is sixteen years.

The Georgia Legislature of 1914, which rejected a woman suffrage bill, also rejected a bill to raise the age of consent for girls. Just as the Kentucky Legislature of 1914, which rejected a suffrage submission bill also rejected a bill to raise the age of consent from sixteen to eighteen.

Georgia is one of the most backward states in the Union as to the protection of working women and children. At the time Mary Phagan was assaulted and murdered in the Atlanta factory, she was under fourteen years. Georgia was one of the four states in the Union allowing children to work in factories at night, and one of a very small number in the Union allowing children under fourteen to work in factories at all.

It is time Georgia men realized that talk of "Southern Chivalry" no longer goes. The country is judging Georgia by the protection she actually gives her women and children, not by her talk about chivalry, and it is not justifying the lawless acts of the lynchers either by the hypocritical excuse of the Mayor of Atlanta. The women of Georgia have a right to demand the right to protect themselves by law, for with all their lynchings the men of Georgia have absolutely failed to protect them. The State that really wants to protect women will be found ready to give them the protection of the ballot.

SPECIAL BARGAIN OFFER.

Suffragists who want to get the news of the suffrage movement the world over and in every state of the Union should subscribe for The Woman's Journal, published in Boston, founded by Lucy Stone and Henry Blackwell; now edited by their daughter, Miss Alice Stone Blackwell. It is the oldest suffrage paper published in the world, and it is today the newest and the liveliest special organ published, for it deals with the latest topic going—the completion of the age-old struggle for individual political liberty. Our American Revolution was an episode of this struggle still going on in most parts of the world; taxation without representation is tyranny today as it was in '76. The Woman's Journal is a weekly paper, good print and good paper. Price, $1.00 a year; or for trial subscriptions, 50c for six months; 25c for four months.

Under a special offer now prevailing, 50c of every dollar subscribed in Kentucky goes to the local suffrage work. Send in your name and dollar to State Headquarters of the Fayette Equal Rights Association, 726 McClelland Building, Lexington, Ky.

SUFFRAGE CONVENTION IN LEXINGTON IN NOVEMBER.

Lexington has won out over Louisville and Covington, and will get the Annual Meeting of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association. It will be held in the early part of November. Mrs. Phillip Snowden, the famous English suffragist, will speak at the convention. Other speakers of national reputation will be announced later. Lexington suffragists will entertain the visiting suffragists. County suffrage leagues are asked to notify Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, President, at Lexington, at once of the persons they desire to send as delegates, that entertainment may be provided.

THOSE WHO CAN, DON'T (?)

Over four hundred thousand adults in Kentucky can not read or write. Many of those who can read, make it a point not to. Is this the reason that woman suffrage which is sweeping the rest of the country, has gone so slowly in Kentucky? The suffragists are calling on the men of Kentucky who can read and write to find out what is going on in the world, and to get Kentucky into the procession.

WHY WE OPPOSE WOMEN TRAVELING IN RAILWAY TRAINS.

(An Anti-Suffragist's Reason.)

1. Because traveling in trains is not a natural right.

2. Because our great-grandfathers never asked to travel in trains.

3. Because woman's place is in the home, not the train.

4. Because it is unnecessary; there is no point reached by train that cannot be reached on foot.

5. Because it will double the work of conductors, engineers and brakemen, who are already overburdened.

6. Because men smoke and play cards in trains. Is there any reason to believe that women will behave better?

FOURTH-CLASS POST-MASTER EXAMINATION.

Saturday, September 11th, 1915.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on the date named above an examination will be held at Richmond, Ky., as a result of which it is expected to make certification to fill a contemplated vacancy in the position of fourth-class postmaster at Paint Lick, Ky., and other vacancies as they may occur at that office, unless it shall be decided in the interest of the service to fill the vacancy by reinstatement. The compensation of the postmaster at this office was $675 for the last fiscal year.

Age limit, 21 years and over on the date of the examination, with the exception that in a State where women are declared by statute to be of full age for all purposes at 18 years, women 18 years of age on the date of the examination will be admitted.

Applicants must reside within the territory supplied by the post office for which the examination is announced.

The examination is open to all citizens of the United States who can comply with the requirements.

Application forms and full information concerning the requirements of the examination can be secured from the postmaster at Paint Lick, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Applications should be properly executed and filed with the Commission at Washington at least seven days before the date of the examination, otherwise it may be impracticable to examine the applicants.

Rule At Scotts Sale And Bidding Spirited
One of the largest crowds ever seen at a public sale in this county was the one that attended the sale of John W. Scott's near Buena Vista last Friday. It was estimated that 2500 people were on the grounds.

Bidding was very spirited and the prices realized for most of the personalties were considered by many to be fabulous. Capt. I. M. Dunn who was the spokesman for the day, being the chief auctioneer, reports the following: shoats, $8.10 the hundred, 100 sheep brought $7.50 a head, while not very forward calves averaged from $35. to $37.50 a head, other cattle ranging in price from 74 to 8 cents a pound. Mules were also high, one pair bringing $375. The farm containing 288 acres was "knocked off," to Mr. Will Scott, for $99 an acre.

Mrs. Sidney Warmoth, of Stanford and Mrs. Ira Richards, of Kokomo, Ind were here to attend the burial of Little Elizabeth Prather.

Little Elizabeth Annie Prather, age eight years and four months died at her home at Nina, Ky., on Friday evening last at two o'clock, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Prather, and leaves to mourn her loss, besides her parents five brothers, namely, Charlie, Jessie, Sammie and Willie B. She was ill just one week of that dreaded disease Diphtheria. Elizabeth was a bright and beautiful little girl and will be greatly missed by all who knew her, especially by father, mother and brothers. It seemed as if God chose the Flower of the Flock, she being the only girl, and the light of the home, she was ever ready and willing to help others, and when the call came, she was prepared, and ready to answer, calling her loved ones to her bedside, she told them she was going to meet Jesus, and two hours later passed happily and safely into the arms of Jesus. Jesus said suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not for such is the Kingdom of Heaven. The remains were laid to rest Saturday afternoon in the Lancaster cemetery.

Women in Tobacco Factories. There are 3,000 more women than men working in the tobacco factories in Pennsylvania.

Mankind Classified.

Mankind is divided into two classes—those who earn a living and don't get it, and those who get a living without earning it.

More Man.

Man is not only of few days and full of prunes, but he is an insignificant mutt at his wedding, his wife's parents are the heroes when the first baby comes, and after that his wife takes over his pay envelope every week.—Houston Post.

NOT IN THE TRUST.

The Robinson Famous Shows which exhibit at Richmond on Sept. 7th., are not in the show trust. Several inducements were made to them to join the show trust, but they refused all offers, and will continue to give the public the same high-class shows, only this season will be enlarged in every department, as the show now travels on its own special train of cars.

The trust magnates advised the management to clutter the street parade, but he refused positively, and this year has enlarged his street payment so as to make it two miles in length, with plenty of music, pretty ladies, fine horses, funny clowns and massive open cages of animals and takes place daily on the public streets free.
